The inks are put through a solidification treatment process, this uses lime/ fly ash to produce low-strength cementation. The resultant solidified waste is disposed of through non hazardous waste landfill and is subject to current landfill legislation.